A worldwide communications campaign

GINETEX is currently investing in a worldwide communications campaign to promote its clevercare.info logo. 7 consumers and... our planet!

Today, an increasing number of apparel companies agree that consumers are ready to hear from them on how to in better shape, while also taking care of our planet. Consumers are now willing to change their day-to-day habit

Apparel companies such as Agnes b., Carrefour, Engelbert Strauss GmbH&Co, Esprit, Galeries Lafayette, Grou Performance, Playshoes GmbH, Sevira Kids, Stella Mc Cartney, Ragwear, etc. are adopting the clevercare.info logo. eco-caring is a priority for our industry today. See all ambassadors

Next year, for their 2018 collections, other companies will also follow this worldwide initiative.

Consumer-oriented communications

GINETEX developed clevercare.info, in order to advise consumers that they can influence the environmental symbols found on a textile label – www.clevercare.info. The most relevant way in which consumers can reduce 1 to change the way they care for them. Laundry alone accounts for approx. 30% of the carbon footprint of clothing. Many consumers are starting to use the logo on their care labels and are developing consumer worldwide communications.

Two GINETEX promotion campaigns are available for external communications. If you are an apparel or textile manufacturer, your communication can be translated in your national language.
